DESTINATION 2045

A COMMUNITY SUMMIT ON OUR REGION'S FUTURE

2045 inMotion is a community-led process to develop our region's next Metropolitan Transportation Plan. This plan will help determine how we invest in our future transportation system (a potential investment of more than $100 million!). Together, let's take the next step! Join your neighbors and friends at Destination 2045, as we continue the discussion and make BIG decisions about our future of our region.

Keynote speaker

Gabe Klein

Gabe is an entrepreneur, investor, and author of Start-Up City: Inspiring Private and Public Entrepreneurship, Getting Projects Done, and Having Fun. He is an expert on urban design, transportation, and how technology can improve mobility for people.

Transportation Choices for the Future of the Anderson Metropolitan Region

COMMON QUESTIONS

What is 2045 inMotion? Madison County Council of Governments (MCCOG), a regional planning organization that works with local communities in and around Madison County, has begun an ambitious process to create a long-range transportation plan for the Anderson Metropolitan Planning Area—encompassing all of Madison County, IN; Fortville, IN and Daleville, IN. The process, 2045 inMotion, will include robust regional public engagement to inform the final Metropolitan Transportation Plan.

What will happen at Destination 2045? The Summit will be informative, interactive, and fun. In addition to a presentation by thought-leader Gabe Klein, the Planning Team will share an update on its progress and findings to date. Participants will contribute directly to the process through smart phone polling and table-based discussions. The meeting is free and open to anyone who cares about the future of the region.

Who is Gabe Klein? Gabe Klein is the former Former Commissioner of the Chicago and Washington DC Departments of Transportation and author of "Start-Up City: Inspiring Private and Public Entrepreneurship, Getting Projects Done, and Having Fun" (2015). He is an expert on urban design, transportation, and how technology can improve mobility. He launched two of the first and largest bike share systems in the United States, and revamped parking, permitting, and other government processes through technology solutions.

How will my input be used? When you contribute an idea to 2045 In Motion, you are contributing directly to the Metropolitan Transportation Plan. The input collected during the Summit will contribute to contribute to one of the plan's goals, inspire a specific action (like a new project, policy, or program), or set the course for implementation. Each comment will be recorded, databased, categorized, and analyzed by the planning team. This process will be documented in a summary memo following the Summit.

What is the Metropolitan Transportation Plan? This plan is a requirement under the federal transportation law (Title 23 U.S. Code) and will act as a guide for the future of transportation facilities and how they function as an integrated metropolitan transportation system. Additionally, 2045 inMotion will consider and plan for transportation factors that support the economic vitality of the metropolitan area.

Do I have to be an expert to contribute ideas? Absolutely not! By living, working or raising a family in the Region, you know so much about how the region moves. Your intuition is vital to the plan's success. Whether you're just moving to the area or a fourth-generation life-long resident, your perspective is important.

Persons with disabilities or non-English speaking persons who wish to attend the summit and need assistance or special accommodations should contact Ryan Phelps between the hours of 8:00 AM and 4:00 PM, Monday through Friday by calling (765) 641-9482 or e-mailing ryan@heartlandmpo.org.
